Student Account Information

The following is an example of a student's information account to access various computer systems at the High School of Fashion Industries. Please use this information as a guide for using your specific accounts. Remember that the user accounts for all the systems should be the same. For example, if your name and id number are John Smith, 123456789, then your user name will be jsmith. However, in some cases, user names are followed by a number, jsmith2. If your school network account has a number, then all other accounts should have the same number.
